The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-8 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is not clear how the flexural strength is determined. The only method for measuring the flexural strength is in accordance with IIS K6911. See the specification at page 11. Thus, claims 8 and 11 do not appear to further limit claim 1 as amended. If claim 11 is a further limitation of claim 1, as amended, then how is the flexural strength in claim 1 determined? This rejection could be overcome by incorporating the limitations of claim 11 into claim 1 and cancelling claims 8 and 11.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-8 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Van Gasse. The rejection is applied as in the previous Office Action. There is no evidence that the conventional unsaturated polyester, Synolite TP 846-VG, used as Resin A does not have softening point and glass transition temperature within the ranges required in claim 1. As the flexural strength limitation is indefinite for reasons discussed above, it does not distinguish over the composition of the reference.

Claims 1-8 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Van Gasse alone or in view of each of Sakai and Fujita. The rejections are applied as in the previous Office Action. As the flexural strength limitation is indefinite for reasons discussed above, it does not distinguish over the composition of the reference.

Claims 1-8 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Osborne alone or in view of each of Sakai and Fujita. The rejections are applied as in the previous Office Action. As the flexural strength limitation is indefinite for reasons discussed above, it does not distinguish over the composition of the reference.

Claim 11 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
